The single most untapped competitive advantage is teamwork.

To gain this advantage, teams must:

- ▶ Trust one another
- ▶ Engage in Conflict around ideas
- ▶ Commit to decisions
- ▶ Hold one another Accountable
- ▶ Focus on achieving collective Results

What does this program do?

The program helps teams understand how they score on the key components of The Five Behaviors model: Trust, Conflict, Commitment, Accountability, and Results. Individual team members will learn about their own personality style and the styles of their team members—based on the Everything DiSC® model—and how their style contributes to the team's overall success.

A productive, high-functioning team:

- ▶ Makes better, faster decisions
- ▶ Taps into the skills and opinions of all members
- ▶ Avoids wasting time and energy on politics, confusion and destructive conflict
- ▶ Avoids wasting time talking about the wrong issues and revisiting the same topics over and over again because of a lack of buy-in
- ▶ Creates a competitive advantage
- ▶ Is more fun to be on!

The Five Behaviors And Your Team

Remember, the five behaviors can be relatively interrelated as they all focus on the same goal: to help the team or organization succeed. And engaging even one of the behaviors is the success of a team. Consider the following connection:

RESULTS 2.3
ACCOUNTABILITY 2.2
COMMITMENT 2.1
CONFLICT 2.0
TRUST 1.1

Summary of Your Team's Survey Results

Your assessment score indicates that trust and commitment are likely areas of low accountability, conflict, and results are potentially areas for improvement.

Building Trust

The trust and functional behavior of a behavior team is trust. Unfortunately, the word trust often does not mean the same thing to everyone. The definition that you understand and accept is based on your own experiences and observations. Trust, in the context of a team, is:

1. A willingness to be completely vulnerable with one another.
 2. Confidence among team members that their own intentions are good and that the protection or control around the team.

Trust is the result of a trusting, consistent team. You make trust when you are always honest with trust because there is no quality or characteristic that is more important to you than the trust of your team.

Team Survey Results

The following table reflects the team's responses to the trust-related questions from the right side of the survey. The team's average score on the four-point scale. The range and distribution of responses within the team.

	ALMOST NEVER	RARELY	SOMETIMES	USUALLY
Team members acknowledge their weaknesses to one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members actively encourage one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are organized and plan with one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0
Team members are one another's best supporters.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0

Common Distractions

What is needed to focus on results?

Teams have difficulty staying focused on results because of self-interest and self-protection. As part of the assessment, you and your team members had an opportunity to identify possible distractions from results in the context of your team. The number of people out of 10 who selected each distraction appears next to the corresponding bar chart. Note: You need the votes to reach all of the votes.

Some distractions that keep us from focusing on results are:

- Lack of shared interests: 8 people
- Lack of time and energy: 8 people
- Inconsistent processes and structure: 8 people
- Vague or shifting goals: 8 people
- Emphasis on personal goals that have goals: 8 people
- Impatience or over-zealous or progression: 1 person

Points of Discussion

- The results of the survey indicate that a distraction for your team is "Lack of shared interests." What level of influence directly or indirectly does your team have in making it go away?
- In the same survey, you have identified the lack of time and energy as a major distraction. Are there currently members on your team who are responsible? (Consider only those who are responsible and not a "victim" of what are the consequences of missing a deadline?)
